

Feedback Control

- Negative feedback is most common: for example, LH from pituitary stimulates the testis to produce testosterone which in turn feeds back and inhibits LH secretion
- Positive feedback is less common: examples include LH stimulation of estrogen which stimulates LH surge at ovulation